Americans received 30 billion robotic marketing calls last year—that’s over 100 calls per adult. But we’ve found a way to reduce that load: we call it the ONE CALL Phone-A-Thon. There’s nothing robotic about it!

We ask two groups of people to make financial gifts to the seminary.

1. people like YOU and
2. the people on OUR board of trustees.

When we reach our goal of $90,000 from people like you responding to this mailing by April 30, 2019 our President then makes one personal phone call to our Board of Trustees Chair, and he asks the board members to present us with their bonus gift of $20,000!
Will you help us to prepare leaders for ministry in our communities—pastors, therapists, chaplains, nonprofit leaders, and more? We invite you to give now. Anything you give helps us in training one of our community’s most vital resources—Christian leaders and therapists who advance the work of God. Our graduates reinforce the strength of our society when today’s robotic culture is pushing impersonal technology at the expense of human relationships.

Here are just three examples of how Evangelical’s students and alums are changing the world…

Juliana was recently appointed the National Director of Chaplain Service, Department of Veteran Affairs.

“Being entrusted with the sacred honor of providing for the spiritual well-being of our nation’s veterans—and leading 300 chaplains in the Department of Veteran Affairs—is evidence that God is able to do so much more than we could imagine. My educational experience at Evangelical inspired me to trust God fully in all circumstances, to more intently seek God’s purposeful will for my life, and to live each day with an obedient heart that submits to the leadership of Christ.”

Dana Ergenbright M.A.T.S., M.A. Currently enrolled in Evangelical Seminary’s Th.D Program.

Dana serves as a Training and Materials Manager with the Trauma Healing Institute of the American Bible Society.

“I am passionate about facilitating emotional and spiritual healing in those affected by trauma, serving immigrants, refugees, war-trafficking survivors, and at-risk youth. Evangelical Seminary’s Th.D. in Restorative Theology is honing my understanding of the life-giving intersection between theology and psychology, while empowering me to better help the church become the healing place that Jesus intends. That place will include believers learning the language of lament.”

Scott W. Wise M.D. Currently enrolled in Evangelical Seminary’s M.Div. Program.

Scott serves as a Doctor of Radiology at the Penn State Health Community Medical Group.

“By plan I will integrate full-time radiology with part-time ministry over the next four years in the United Methodist Church, and after that retire from medicine to become a full-time pastor. A day has never gone by in my seminary education in which heart and head transformation has not occurred. In all my years of schooling, I’ve never had better teachers than the ones I have at Evangelical. They not only teach but live by God’s Word, and they’ve been a crucial link in my response to God’s call on my life.”

Political groups, government agencies, Christian personalities, and worthy nonprofits may all play a part, but few things are as vital as well-trained, biblically-sound leaders within our local communities. Shaping the common good boils down to sound, local leadership—people invested in the lives around them, not reading a pre-recorded script.
